Glebe Farm Foods Ltd

Based in Kings Ripton in Huntingdon, Glebe Farm Foods is a leading manufacturer of gluten-free food for sufferers of food intolerances. At its base in Kings Ripton, Huntingdon, the company has innovated many products including gluten free beer, cereals and cake and bread mixes.

The majority of Glebe Farm Foods' business is providing bulk finished gluten free oats as porridge, muesli flakes or oat flour to bakers and packers. With full vertical integration from farming oats to end product the business is unique in its absolute gluten free quality and ability to supply food producers of any size.

Consequently, Glebe Farm Foods put together a grant application to the Greater Cambridge Greater Peterborough Enterprise Partnership (LEP) for funding from the Eastern Agri-Tech Growth Initiative's Growth Fund. The grant was used to aid the installation of a plant to dehull and mill the oats.

Vision

To create a 2nd generation gluten free oat mill, packing plant and store for GFF which will secure Glebe Farm Foods' future and that of its staff by allowing the company to move ahead of growing competition and expand into EU and World markets.

Results

Rebecca Rayner, from Glebe Farm, said: "We are delighted that we have received the grant and it is helping us achieve our objectives to improve facilities here at Glebe Farm Foods. We are building a world class business and now the true quality leader in our sector with our second mill."
