

KENSINGTON PALACE

28th February, 2022

I write to wish The Cambridge Climate Change year of action every success.

We face devastating planetary and humanitarian crises if we do not act now.

But I am optimistic. Humanity has the ingenuity and determination to increase biodiversity, decarbonise transport, reduce waste and tackle global warming. It requires business, researchers, entrepreneurs, governments and the public to come together. It is why I launched The Earthshot Prize and why I applaud Cambridge's initiative.

Thank you for your leadership and good luck with today's launch. I am with you every step of the way.
